

Evolving Frameworks for Protecting Biotechnological Innovation

This presentation explains the historical background of biotechnology patenting and summarizes major legal decisions that have affected the way biotechnological inventions can be protected.

It also addresses current discussions and emerging challenges that may shape future developments in biotechnology patent law.

In addition, the session will outline key patenting procedures and provide practical recommendations for navigating them effectively.