

YOUNG RESEARCHER AWARD

The Board of the working group AIDIC Giovani of AIDIC (Associazione Italiana Di Ingegneria Chimica) launches the “Young Researcher Award”, to be assigned to the best scientific contribution presented by a young active researcher, participant to the NINE2021 congress, and author of a research of wide interest in nanotechnology sciences.

The Candidate’s requirements to apply to the award are listed as follows:

1. The Candidate must be the first author of the submitted contribution.
2. The Candidate must have achieved the PhD title after January 1st, 2017.
3. The Candidate must not have turned 35 years old after January 1st, 2020.
4. The Candidate must be regularly registered to the NINE2021 congress.
5. The Candidate must submit one only application.
6. The same contribution must not be submitted by more than one Candidate..

The documents required to apply to the award are listed as follows:

1. The Candidate’s contribution in PDF format. In case the contribution presents more attachments (i.e. supplementary information), the Candidate must generate one PDF file which includes the contribution and the attachments. The submission of abstract and paper follow the same on line submission procedure and dead lines as for all contributions to the Congress.
File must be renamed: “Contribution_*LastName_FirstName*”.
2. The Candidates’ motivational letter in PDF format.
File must be renamed: “MotivationalLetter_*LastName_FirstName*”.
3. The Candidate’s Curriculum Vitae in PDF format.
File must be renamed: “CV_*LastName_FirstName*”.
4. The Candidate’s scan of identity card in PDF format.
File must be renamed: “ID_*LastName_FirstName*”.

The documents 2-4 must be submitted due January 15th, 2021, to aidicgiovani@aidic.it, with object “Application YRA NINE2021”.

The Board declines any responsibility for technical issues in the submission of the documents. Every application incomplete and/or submitted after the deadline will be excluded by the selection.

A selection Committee, composed by members of the Scientific Committee of the NINE2021 Congress, will evaluate the applications and elect the best scientific contribution at their incontestable discretion.

The award ceremony will take place during the Congress. The winning candidate’s presence at the award ceremony is required to confer the award.
